

Successful Play.

The play "An Old Fashioned Mother," which was given at the Opera House on Saturday evening by the young people of Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, Calgary, under the auspices of the Didsbury Waither League, was greeted with a capacity house.

The audience was delighted with the very able manner in which the play was presented. Miss Margaret Meyer as the "Mother" and Mr. Ronald Brackman as the "Prodigal Son," showed some clever acting, while Miss Betty Brackman as the gossiping "Miss Lowitz Custard," and Mr. Albert Boehmer as "Jerry," kept the audience in good humor with their clever comedy. They were very ably supported by the remainder of the cast.

Recitations were given by Miss Florence Artman and Miss Betty Bullis. Miss Artman also gave piano selections.

Expect Wheat Acreage Will Be Reduced

Substantial reduction of the wheat crop in Alberta is forecast for the coming season, following the heavy spring snowstorm by well informed grain opinions.

Previous estimates of acreage to be sown to wheat have been heavily reduced, it was learned, and many farmers have been induced by the late season and other difficulties to make considerable cuts in the acreage at first intended.

Not for six or seven years have conditions delayed seeding so late as during the present year. At this time last year it was estimated that 25 per cent. of the seeding had been completed. In 1921 53 per cent. of the work had been done. More than 75 per cent. of sowing was finished in 1930 and 45 per cent. the previous year.

Practically no seeding has been done this year and in addition the amount of acreage prepared for crop is less than for many years. There is also a considerable amount of last season's wheat lying in the fields and the threshing necessary will further delay intended seeding in many districts.

Farmers, it is generally believed, will undertake only a limited amount of stubble work this year despite the comparatively small amount of the summerfallow prepared.

There have been years in the past, in which late seeding has been undertaken with successful results. Farmers, when necessary, have been able to seed in a remarkably short time, but these occasions have made the securing of hired help essential and growers in all districts this year are suffering from a chronic shortage of money, with credit facilities almost non-existent.

Many farmers, however, are in possession of their own seed and a further favorable factor is that of the improving value of wheat.

Fear Controls The World.

Conditions throughout the world today demand and should command the serious attention and earnest thought of all people. In this particular article we are not referring to the general economic troubles of the world. They are in large part the result of other conditions to which specific attention is now directed, namely, "Fear" which possesses so many nations and peoples and which is finding expression in various countries in what may best be described as "reign of terror."

Our daily newspapers are filled with reports of the persecution of this or that race of people, or of groups adhering to this or that religious sect, with rending outrages, boycotts and killings. Some of these reports are no doubt exaggerated; some possibly entirely false, with propaganda for this or against that; the underlying motive, however, being the same, namely, "Fear." The fact remains that persecutions and outrages are being perpetrated in many lands. This is inevitable when democratic forms of government are overthrown and autocrats and dictators take control of government and the affairs of nations, directing not only their national and international affairs, but the very lives of the people.

To all practical intents and purposes the German republic established after the Great War has disappeared, democratic forms of government suspended, and a cruel dictatorship set up. This has resulted immediately in a nationwide persecution of the Jews, which has aroused people in all nations. It is a religious persecution reminiscent of the dark ages.

In India every effort of the British Government to grant more responsible government to that great country with its teeming millions of people is frustrated by reason of the bitter racial and religious antagonisms existing between Moslems and Hindus and the impossible caste system prevailing which shows no signs of breaking down.

In Russia every conceivable effort is made to destroy all religion, and to set up in its place a sort of State religion of communistic socialism with Lenin as its god. Justice as we know it in this country does not exist; rather a reign of terror prevails with no person being able to call his soul his own, the whole upheld by a huge standing army, and with the arts of war being taught in every factory and on every collectivized State farm.

Europe is armed to the teeth, each nation obsessed with a narrow nationalism, alive with deadly racial and religious suspicions and hatreds. Every effort to achieve any substantial disarmament has failed because of the all-pervading "Fear," and we find the British Prime Minister and his Foreign Secretary touring the leading capitals of Europe in a desperate effort to prevent a complete breakdown of the Disarmament Conference and another great war.

Japan wages undeclared war on China, and meets the condemnation of its conduct by the League of Nations with defiance to that world body, repudiation of it, and withdrawal from it.

Even in our own country we have witnessed whole communities, sometimes Provinces, even the Dominion, thrown into turmoil based on objections of one portion of the population to the religious views, or because of the racial origin, of another portion.

All down through the ages of the past the longest and bitterest wars have been fought in the name of religion. The blackest pages of human history record deeds primarily done in the name of and sanctified by religion. And the world seems to be headed for another holocaust of war, the first seedlings in the eruption being manifested by such events as are now reported from Russia and Germany.

It is "Fear," which stalks in the nations today, that is primarily and chiefly responsible for the financial and economic troubles in Canada, the United States, Great Britain, and all other lands. "Fear" has made nations and peoples wobble to their usual aversions in life, and living would become sweet and the world happy and prosperous.

Canada suffers because the whole world suffers, and the world suffers because of the present state of men's minds. It is not the political or economic systems under which the world has been progressing that have broken down so much as it is the morale of men which has been weakened by reason of a resurrection of the perverted views of the dark ages.

Canada wants concord and peace. It is the only foundation upon which it can develop and prosper. Therefore, it behooves all Canadians, irrespective of their racial origin, their religious beliefs, their political and economic opinions, to throw their whole weight into the balance in favor of world disarmament. And the most effective way in which that can be done is to now and forever repudiate all the old racial and religious enmities which have spoilt our national life on many occasions in the past. The force of such an example from Canada would not be lost upon other nations.

Claims Champion Aged Skater

Prince Edward Island Man At 93 Takes Daily Spin

In Joseph E. Arsenault, the town of Wellington, Prince Edward Island, believes it has the champion aged skater of the world. With 93 years to his credit, Mr. Arsenault has been daily ice skating since he was a boy, and has taken part in many skating exhibitions at the rink this winter.

With energy and vigor extremely rare in a man of his advanced years, he has "worked out" almost every day that ice has been available for the last three years and hopes to continue, at least, until he has spanned the remaining seven years which separate him from the century mark.

The powerfully-muscled limbs which still drive him over the ice at a good clip were developed, the aged skater says, in the days when as a youth he taught school at Casimier. He lived about seven miles from the school and it was his habit to don the blades and skate the full distance to the school house each morning that ice conditions permitted.

This practice, coupled with "right living and moderation in all things," built him a sturdy physique which later stood him in good stead during his 38 years of railroading and the subsequent years of retirement. Today, he is still able to step off a lively jig with all the vim of a man 40 years younger.

NEIGHBORS TALK

"I am employed in a theatre and it is a problem to make ends meet, as I help support my mother and sisters. I like to dress well but haven't very much to spend on clothes. To give the appearance of variety to my slender wardrobe I change the color of a dress or stockings as soon as the things become faded. I always use Diamond Eye for the work using them as dyes for dresses and as tints for stockings. I have always gotten such perfect results that our neighbors talk about the great number of "new" things I have."

"I learned about Diamond Eyes from our wardrobe mistress. She says she has tried all the dyes on the market but none do such splendid work and are so easy to use as Diamond Eyes. I understand they are the world's most popular dyes and they deserve to be."

Old London Newspaper

Copy Of the St. James Chronicle Of the Year 1797 Found In Saskatchewan

On a recent round of inspection in southwestern Saskatchewan, Inspector George Hanning, R.C.M.P., Swift Current, picked up a very interesting copy of an old London newspaper, the St. James Chronicle. The paper, a semi-weekly, is dated June 24-27, 1797, and is in good state of preservation.

The front page head is centred with the crest of King George IV., and there are personal items regarding the royal family, one being that his majesty had been riding until 2 o'clock, when he returned for dinner, and that "the queen and princesses went out airing in post coach and four and returned to the lodge seat after tea."

On the front page appears an announcement of the Irish state lottery, shares in which were on sale at licensed state lottery offices, half shares costing three pounds, 13 shillings and 6 pence.

The issue also contained a speech by President Adams to the United States Congress, delivered more than a month previously, May 19, 1797.

Race Hard On Horses

Course At Aintree Where Grand National Is Run Is Most Difficult

The most difficult race for horses is the Grand National, over the famous steeplechase course at Aintree, England, near Liverpool. From 40 to 60 horses start in the event, which calls for four and one-half miles of running and jumping over the 50 barriers. Crowds ranging to 200,000 in person sit in the stands or walk along the racing strip. Few horses finish. In the decade from 1920 to 1930 only 73 of the 298 horses that faced the barrier reached the judges' stand.

Great Lakes' Fish Yield

Report Shows Lake Erie Leads In Annual Catch

The fish yield of the Great Lakes for the ten years between 1921 and 1931 has totalled in the neighborhood of half a million tons, the United States Bureau of Fisheries reports. Actual figures issued by the bureau for that period, covering the five Great Lakes and including Lake of the Woods, Rainy Lake and Nainagan Lake, show a yield of 989,473,000 pounds of commercial fish or 494,736 tons, exclusive of a considerable catch of their importance, are Lake Huron, River and Lake St. Clair.

The catch of commercial fish in 1931, the last year for which a report has been made, covering all the Great Lakes, was 91,270,000 pounds; in 1930, 94,948,000 pounds, and in the previous year 83,389,000 pounds. Between 1918 and 1928 it ran from 60,000,000 to 92,000,000 pounds.

The annual catch from Lake Erie runs almost twice as high as from any other of the five Great Lakes; Lake Michigan holds second place in this respect and the others, in order of their importance, are Lake Huron, Lake Superior, and Lake Ontario. The yield from Lake Erie for the last ten years has run from 15,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds a year, while from 15,000,000 to 35,000,000 pounds of fish have been reported taken annually from Lake Michigan over the same period.

Christie Brown, Winnipeg Bakery, Reports Progress

Firm Has Faith In the Courage and Enterprise Of the West

When Christie Brown & Company, Limited, erected their Winnipeg Bakery, the most modern of its kind, at a cost of over one million dollars, just eighteen months ago, it was proof that they had faith in the courage and enterprise of the West, notwithstanding the unsettled conditions prevailing at that time. And although economic conditions show little improvement, figures to hand show that February, 1932, was the biggest month in the history of the Bakery, a marked increase in production being shown in every department.

This substantial sales increase is due, largely, to the introduction, during the last year, of several popularly priced fancy lines. Grocers and thrifty housewives alike were quick to recognize these real biscuit values. The fact, too, that the Company is now able to guarantee fresh deliveries every day from Winnipeg to Vancouver Island is stimulating sales to the point that new high records are expected.

Game Birds For Saskatchewan

Fifteen Hundred Pheasants Are Sent By North Dakota Government

Saskatchewan's wild bird life population was severely caroled by 1,500 pheasants when several carcasses of this beautiful game bird arrived from North Dakota.

The pheasants were sent to the game branch of the Saskatchewan government in exchange for picked eggs shipped from Jack Fish Lake to the North Dakota government.

The birds will be distributed widely throughout the province, stated Major John Barrett, deputy minister of natural resources, while 400 or 500 will be retained at the wild animal park at Moose Jaw.

The birds will form the nucleus of a hatchery from which eggs will be distributed to all parts of the province.

"Book Of Remembrance"

Every Care Being Taken To Make It Imperishable

The following article is by Grant Dexter of the Regina Leader-Post, OTTAWA Press Bureau.

Artist Purvis, of London, Ontario, has received orders to undertake a work of special interest to many people.

Mr. Purvis will write Canada's "Book of Remembrance." He will write by hand, and in imperishable ink, the names of 68,000 Canadians who were killed in the Great War. It will take him at least five years to do it.

Mr. Purvis will begin where the technicians and scientists left off. He will work with the most carefully selected materials that the wit and knowledge of the best brains in Canada's service can assemble.

Every material going into the "Book of Remembrance" has been selected with painstaking care. Take the matter of ink. For six months our scientists have been working to produce an imperishable compound—one that will never fade, or encrust, or smudge, or yield to a vandals' exasperation.

And with this ink, Mr. Purvis will write upon the best vellum the world can produce. Vellum is a skin, and every possible test has been made to discover the strongest, most indestructible vellum known to man.

The vellum leaves will not be bound to the book with the finest linen. But instead of sewing the sheets to the linen, the vellum and the linen will be fused. This is to be done by subjecting the sheets and binding to tremendous pressure. The result will be a book whose leaves will not tear or rip, and which will resist the ravages of handling—even careless handling—for all time to come.

Ensuing the whole will be a thick beautifully wrought cover of leather. A certain amount of research must still be done, but the ultimate selection of material will be morocco leather. Gradually, sheet by sheet, Mr. Purvis will compile the book. Five years hence, when finished, it will be laid upon the altar in the memorial chamber.

High up in the tower, directly under the bells in a vaulted chamber which commemorates the part Canada played in the war, it is walled with milk-white stone, floored with rough unfashioned rocks gathered from the battlefields of France. Until the "Book of Remembrance" is there, the memorial chamber will not be complete.

Not Recognizing Defeat

"The British railways have been hard hit but they have the Jinn Bull habit of not recognizing defeat. On top of the Southern Railway spending 13,000,000 pounds on docks at Southampton, the Great Western news announces an order of 4,000 freight cars at a cost of $5,000,000."

If The World's Entire Supply Of Gold Was Assembled It Would Occupy But Small Space

All this talk of gold the gold standard, the line of gold, the hoarding of it, drove professors at New York University into a corner the other day, and when they came out they revealed that if the world's entire supply were brought together it could be tucked away into a couple of four-story brownstone fronts.

By some fancy figuring, says the New York World-Telegram, they disclosed that since Columbus came to America there have been produced in the world 1,000,000,000 Troy ounces of pure gold, worth in United States currency approximately $23,000,000,000. This, they said, is the equivalent of about 43,526 cubic feet of gold, and would make a cube 29 feet 11 inches on each side.

They then showed what has become of it.

In gold coin and bullion throughout the world there are 530,000,000 Troy ounces, worth $12,000,000,000. This occupies 23,144 cubic feet, and would make a cube 32 feet 4 inches on each side.

Included in this, of course, is the United States' supply, worth $10,420,000,000 and occupying 11,127 cubic feet. It would make a cube about 22 feet on each side.

About 150,000,000 ounces of gold are estimated to be hoarded in India and the Orient. It is worth $3,000,000,000 and is equivalent to 8,286 cubic feet, making a cube 20 feet 3 inches on each side. That hoarded much more than this three years ago, but high prices have brought some of it out of hiding places in India.

"It is impossible to make any exact estimate of the gold in use in the form of jewelry, spectacle frames and gold teeth, but still theoretically available," the professors pointed out. "Probably 150,000,000 ounces is a reasonable figure. This would be worth about $3,000,000,000, would equal 8,286 cubic feet and would make a cube 20 feet 3 inches on one side, the same as the gold estimated to be hoarded in the East."

Out of the total gold known to have been mined since the discovery of America this leaves about 220,000,000 ounces unaccounted for. It is worth $4,500,000,000, equivalent to 12,420 cubic feet, making a cube 23 feet 2 inches on one side. It has been lost or used up.

Before Columbus' time the world's gold stock probably did not exceed $1,000,000,000.

As to gold reserves still in the mint, it is agreed, the professors said, that they are diminishing so rapidly that either new supplies must be discovered or new methods of extraction devised if the output is to keep up. A rough estimate of mineable gold known to be in mine is not even 400,000,000 ounces, worth $8,500,000,000, equivalent to 22,925 cubic feet and making a cube 28 feet 5 inches on one side.

Much larger amounts of gold are known to be present in low grade ores, not profitable to work under present methods.

But by far the greatest amount of gold of which science has any certain knowledge is the supply in the water of the seven seas.

"Quantitative estimates are very uncertain because the gold content of sea water varies from place to place in the ocean and has not been surveyed accurately," the professors said. "A minimum estimate, based on the best available data and assuming about two tenths of a grain of gold in a ton of sea water, indicates that the total gold in the ocean is at least 50,000,000,000,000 Troy ounces, or about 50,000 times as much as has been mined since Columbus discovered America. This would be worth $1,000,000,000,000. It would equal 287,000,000 cubic feet and would make a cube 729 feet on each side."

It would if they could get it out, but despite the chemists' repeated efforts to extract oceanic gold by cheap processes, they don't know how.

The Hungarian partridge feeds to a very large extent on weed seeds.

Largest Telescope In Britain

Building At Greenwich Now Ready To House Big Instrument

A new 36-inch telescope largest in England, will soon be installed at Greenwich Observatory. The building which will house the instrument is now ready and the telescope itself is erected in a temporary state at the works of the Newcastle firm which is making it. It will not be ready for use for some months. Although much smaller than the instrument at the Mount Wilson Observatory in the United States, it is probably the largest to be erected in the British Isles. The climatic conditions are not sufficiently good to justify the expense of building a large one.

Britain Always Ready To Make Sacrifices But Other Nations Are Not So Ready To Follow Suit

Some weeks ago Great Britain declared an embargo on the shipment of arms to Japan and China. When the government made this announcement it expressed the hope that other nations would follow in line and that the war in the Far East might thus be, to some extent, limited. No other nations have seen fit to join in the prohibition. An often in the past, the Mother Country set a good example and nobly followed it. She therefore, lifted the embargo.

So it was in the case of free trade. Nearly three generations ago England abandoned protection in the hope that other countries would follow suit and that tariff barriers would be abolished all over the globe. The expected development did not occur. As a matter of fact, tariffs were everywhere raised higher and higher. This movement was accentuated after the war, until the British Isles remained fiscally unarmored in a fiscally armed world. The end of the experiment came a few years ago when the British electors, tired by discredited for the adoption of the protectionist system and a new Parliament at Westminster put the policy thus adumbrated into force.

So it has been in the case of war debts. Since has repeatedly offered to forgive others twice as much as she asked others to forgive her, but all to no avail. So it has been in the case of disarmament. The British have reduced their defence forces on land, at sea and in the air far beyond the requirements of a world-wide Empire, and of a homeland which depends upon safe sea routes for its very food supplies. Great Britain has given this peace lead at great risk to her own people. Some of the other nations have not done their part. The British Government has confessed that it cannot go on disarming unless other countries play the game. Recently Premier Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John were at Geneva battling against what appears to be an imminent failure of the World Disarmament Conference. Toronto Mail and Empire.

Special Stamp Issue

Ask For Special Series Of Stamps For World's Grain Show

Issuance of a special series of stamps to commemorate the world's grain exhibition and conference in Regina will be proposed shortly to the postmaster-general.

Sometime ago a proposal for a special issue was placed before Hon. Arthur Stave and was turned down. It was held that the cost of the special issue would be too high to be justified at present.

Sponsors of the proposal are preparing another appeal to Mr. Stave. Special despatches from Ottawa indicate that the postmaster-general must make the final decision in the matter.

Artist Carves "Fairy Tree"

Children In Melbourne, Australia, Go In Hundreds To See It

A wonderful work of clever, grimacing, grins, hinds and animal has appeared in the Fitzroy Gardens, Melbourne, on the gnarled red gum tree. Children go in hundreds to see it.

The magic wand which summoned this strange land into the shady gardens was the sharp carving instruments of Miss Ola Cohn, the sculptor, whose art the "Fairy Tree" is likely to express for many years to come.

Miss Cohn, who is an Associate of the Royal College of Art, London, returned to Melbourne last year after five years of study in England and on the Continent. She got the idea of a "Fairy Tree" from one she saw in London, and after a look through the gardens of Melbourne she chose the great trunk of a gum tree estimated to be 700 years old.

Among the niches and the crevices, on the knots and protuberances, a little figures emerged upon the wood. A kooka, Australia's little native bear, carries a tiny baby bear on her back; a joyous elf rides on the back of a genial old frog, waving a rush in his hand to protect himself against a snake which is creeping slyly out of a knot-hole. A kangaroo interestingly watches a conversation between two elves, and an emu inquisitively screws his head round to see what is going on. Just below the outspread wing of a huge eagle, a scoldish old kookaburra looks down on his laughing mate. A lizard or two creep here and there, and a spider presides in the centre of a great web which he has spread across the tree.

Miss Cohn has cleverly utilized the natural shape of the wood. Some of the figures have been evolved with a surprisingly small amount of carving. Her work has now progressed so far up the trunk that she has to stand on a ladder to reach the higher figures. It is a busy old tree trunk, although it has been devoid of sap for many years. Up near the top, among the clustering ivy, a hive of bees real ones, has made its home in a hollow; their droning song keeps Miss Cohn company as she works.

Makes Answer Sure

The flashing of SOS of a ship in distress need never go unanswered because of a sleepy wireless operator. New York engineers have designed a receiver that not only records an SOS, but rings a gong in the operator's quarters and flashes on a special light on the ship's bridge. The gong rings as long as the distress signal is coming through the air, or until the operator responds to the call.

M. CHALAPIN EATS HIS "HAT"

This is not a gramophone record-eating competition but Posko Chalapin testing the gold gramophone record presented to him to commemorate his uninterrupted association for over thirty years with a famous British gramophone company. The gold record is a replica of the record of "The Volga Boatmen," which has been the best seller of any of the famous Russian basso records.

A strong plea for a recapturing of the spirit which characterized the men of the Canadian Corps, and the pioneers of Canada in order to overcome the present national difficulties was made recently at Bormerville, Ontario, by General Sir Arthur Currie, former commander of the Canadian Corps in France. He deplored the spirit of failure and despair which had seized so many people, and said that honour and goodwill, mutual trust and confidence were essential to bring the ship of state safely into harbor.

Recounting some of the experiences of the second battle of Ypres in April, 1915, Sir Arthur told of the young Canadians around him standing unafraid, and their only question was "what do you want us to do?"

"Today, after eighteen years," he said, "the memory of these immortal men and boys comes to us as an inspiration. And today, against another foe—the foe of depression and distrust, and even against the tide in which we have our spirit of service, their dauntless, bearing and if we keep our heads with calm courage. What do you want us to do? Is the question we put to our leaders today. It must be answered at once. It must be answered by each man, not only an eye to personal prestige or party advantage. The people of Canada deserve that it be answered intelligently, honestly and without fear or favour."

"We have moved too far away from the simple life and faith of our ancestors," said Sir Arthur. "Their life was a communal life. It was a life of group help. There was no undue or unnecessary dependence on governments. All this has gone. Our complex life has driven it out almost completely, and we must strive to bring it back. There are quick remedies offered the uprooting of society, the destroying of what our fathers built, the beginning of civilization all over again on a different plane, and on principles and ideals opposite to those on which our country was founded. If I were giving advice to youth, I would say, 'strive to ignore these quick remedies and to restore the spirit of your pioneers. Let us face the future, not with fear, but with hope and faith, not with unbridled and individual selfishness, but with the communal spirit of neighborliness that characterized the pioneers.'"

Fast Readers Are Best

Test Shows They Remember More Of What They Read

Fast readers are better readers than slow ones, an educational survey has shown.

Evidence supporting this contradiction of common belief was reported at the University of California by Dr. John A. Hockett, assistant professor of education after a series of tests with his students.

The fastest readers remember more of what they have read than slow readers, Dr. Hockett found. He asked 20 questions of his students, based on text they had read in two minutes.

The group of students that read fastest answered an average of 12.7 questions correctly, the middle third answering 11.8 questions correctly and the slowest reading third answered only 10.4 correctly.

The group tested by Dr. Hockett was composed mostly of graduate students in education. The students read at speeds varying from 210 to 220 words a minute, with the average rate 260 words a minute. The text dealt with educational problems.

A group of teachers in an Oakland elementary school, given the same test, read at an average rate of 263 words a minute, with individual maximum and minimum of 180 and 350 words a minute.

Wheat crops from Vancouver for the current crop year to date now total 69,759,202 bushels, and it is expected the record movement of 98,407,519 bushels established during the 1928-29 season will be exceeded.

Arbor Day.

Monday May 1st has been announced by the provincial government as Arbor Day and it will be celebrated as an official holiday.

Arbor Day has been set apart by all English-speaking countries to encourage the planting of trees.

Wherever they are planted trees add to the beauty of the location, and in the prairie country with its lack of trees, this day should have a special significance. A few farmers in the district have established shelter belts of trees around their buildings and aside from their usefulness as windbreaks they add to the attractiveness of the farms and invariably call for favorable comment from passers-by.

The department of agriculture has always interested itself with the planting of groves and will supply young trees for that purpose at a nominal charge.

The beauty of our town can also be enhanced by the planting of more trees and the caring for the ones already planted.

School Lands Leases.

During the past year and a half many holders of school land sales contracts with the provincial department of lands, have voluntarily relinquished their contracts and have entered into lease arrangements covering a period of six years. These arrangements, made in anticipation of better conditions than at present exist, have proved and are likely to prove in the immediate future, too onerous for the lessees in view of the depressed state of affairs. In order to give some relief to the situation, holders of these leases will be given opportunity to obtain cultivation permits, paying to the department of lands a cash rental of 4c. an acre for all portions of the land they do not cultivate. They will also pay a permit fee of $1.00 and a share of the crop grown on the land during 1933. The share of the crop paid in any one case will not be greater than one-quarter of the crop, scaling down to a seventh.

Settlers who make such arrangements with the department and comply with the terms of their permits, will have priority right for a renewal for 1934 and at the expiration of that season the settlers will have the first right to lease the land under the regulations of the department. These leases are for a term of 6 years, renewable for a further 6 years, so that under these arrangements a settler may have possession of the land for 14 years if he complies fully with the requirements.

In the case of land leased from the department, a refund of taxes to the lessee will be made of taxes paid on the cultivated area, up to the amount of the department's share of the crop grown on the land, provided the lessee pays the taxes assessed against the land and furnishes a receipt for the payment. The responsibility for payment of arrears of taxes in any year on leased land is an obligation entirely upon the lessee.

An amendment to the Lands Act passed at the recent session of the legislature, gives authority to the minister of lands to consolidate sales of school lands so that any sums paid under an agreement of sale, to liquidate the principal monies due under the contract covering land which the owner desires to retain.

Rob Truck Driver On North Road

Lou Fagen, truck driver for H. Peterson, of Olds was held up on the highway between Wessex and Crossfield about 9 a. m. Friday and robbed of $97.00 in cash.

Fagen had been to Turner Valley for gasoline and when near Wessex coming north he pulled out to the side of the road to adjust engine trouble when a car stopped near his truck and two of its three occupants got out.

One of the pair produced a gun and ordered Fagen to hand over his money. Fagen replied that he had none and the second bandit shoved a revolver against his back and told him to produce or his brains would be blown out. Fagen thereupon gave them his money.

Fagen reported that after warning him against spreading the alarm the men entered their car and drove north and he followed it for some distance in his truck.

Constable Dobbin, of the Olds Detachment R. C. M. P. is investigating the case.

CANADIAN AUTHOR MAKES BIG HIT

The literary hit of the year has been made by Frederick Niven, an author residing near Nelson, B.C., whose novel entitled "Mrs. Barry" is described by Compton Mackenzie in the Daily Mail as a profoundly moving book, and is hailed as a classic worthy to stand beside Sir James Barrie's "Margaret Ogilvy".

Although Frederick Niven has a long list of books to his credit, and has always enjoyed a following among the critics, this is his first appearance among the "best sellers". He worked his way through Canada early this century, and at one time handled baggage and freight for the C. P. R. at Nelson, B.C. He eventually took up a small holding on Scotchman Lake twenty years ago, where he has secured excellent local color for his western stories. "Mrs. Barry" is a novel of life in Glasgow, where at one time Frederick Niven edited a newspaper.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The famous international horse show in London has been abandoned for this year.

A record, probably without parallel in the Dominion, is one held by Guelph, Ontario, where not a single motor fatality occurred within the city limits during 1932.

Employing 45 men, camp No. 3, owned by P. Ben, logging operator of Deedway, B.C., has reopened. The mill and camp, closed since November, will cut for export.

Alexander Sangster, who once homesteaded a quarter section of land, in what is now the heart of Winnipeg, is dead at New Westminster, B.C., aged 80.

W. A. Crawford-Ross of Nanton, Alberta, was re-elected president of the Alberta Herford Breeders' Association at the annual meeting in Saskatoon at the annual meeting at Saskatoon.

Major W. H. Gladstone Murray, M.C., prominent official of the British Broadcasting Company, has arrived in Ottawa to begin his temporary duties as advisor to the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission.

Construction of a $75,000 oil refinery in Calgary is planned by Federated Oil Consumers, Ltd., Harold J. Maloney, chairman of the company's board of trustees states. The plant's capacity would be 250 barrels a day.

Alberta's legislature has adopted a motion presented by Premier J. E. Brownlee, urging the Dominion Government to call as soon as possible a conference to discuss changes in the British North American Act.

England will probably not be represented at the Canadian Hockey and Conventions, Ottawa's this August. Lord Cotnam, president of the National Hockey Association, was afraid financial conditions would prevent the sending of an English team.

Broadcasting Not New

Had its Origin in Halifax Over Thirty Years Ago

If you think broadcasting is something new, read this from the Halifax Herald. Broadcasting originated not within the last few years, but its origin in Halifax means more than 30 years ago when the unusual experiment was made in the old academy of music. The Esker Opera Company was playing there. Vaughan Mitchell, now of Wolfville, then an actor, played a telephone microphone in the mouth of the singer and carried the program over telephone wires to the telephone company's building, where it was relayed by all the staff.

SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver! No Cabinet necessary

Many people who feel weak, sluggish and generally unwell, make the mistake of taking laxatives, or purgatives, which merely irritate the bowels and produce a false sense of well-being. The liver is the organ of the body which cleanses the blood and filters out the poisons. If the liver is weak, the blood is impure and the body is diseased. ## Halifax Had Freak Winter

Lowest Temperature Recorded Was Seven Degrees Above Zero

Yachting on the harbor was not the only unusual incident of this freak winter in Halifax. For the first time since weather records were first begun in the city, about 60 years ago, the mercury failed to drop to zero during the months of December, January and February.

Mean temperature during February was 29.3 degrees or nearly six degrees higher than the mean mark of 23.69 established during the last 29 years, according to figures compiled by Frederick H. Roman Dominion meteorologist here.

The coldest day of the winter was Feb. 11, when the temperature was seven degrees above zero.

Absence of snow was another unusual feature of the winter. For instance, the total of snow and rain combined in February was 5.31 inches. During the same month last year the total was 17 inches.

Makes Dramatic Story

American Money Helped King of Greece To Escape

Ex-King George of Greece has the upright carriage, the high, bold forehead, and the unaffected bearing of his father, the late King Constantine. Although not well off, he probably prefers his present mode of life to the disturbed existence which ended in his banishment nearly 15 years ago. He reigned for only 18 months, and during that time tension between Greece and Italy was at its height. It was broken by Mussolini's famous bombardment of Corfu which is related in the proclamation of a republic. How the King and Queen escaped from the royal palace on that occasion makes a dramatic story. Some months previously Mrs. Gory, wife of Judge Gory, the American millionaire, was entertained by the Queen in the hot season, and was surprised to find the palace swarming with flies. She promised to send the Queen some anti-fly curtains from America, but finding it difficult to get them through, sent a cheque for $500,000. The money arrived the day before the revolution, and it was only by its aid that the King and Queen were able to bribe their way out of the country.

Statement Is Denied

Stefansson Says Eyes Do Not Change Color During Arctic Night

Brown eyes do not turn blue during the long nights of the polar region, according to Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer. Science Service quotes him as refusing, in a communication to the editor of Science, the statement made in another magazine that "after a prolonged absence of sunlight, men on polar expedition find that their eyes, irrespective of previous color, have turned blue."

Dr. Stefansson, in all his long experience in the lands of long nights could not recall having observed this phenomenon. The statement was alleged to have been inspired by an entry in the journal of Captain Scott, British explorer who perished after having reached the South Pole. Inquiries addressed to Captain Scott's companions and collaborators not only failed to bring confirmation of this report but brought forth statements to the opposite effect. Dark-eyed men are the sun return at the end of a polar night with eyes that are still dark.

Managing a Crowd

England's Police Know How To Quell Disorder Without Violence

Over in England as we have repeatedly pointed out the policeman carries no firearm, but only the policeman's baton. Yet when a great crowd of over a hundred thousand assembled in London, and there was disorder and some violence, it was reduced to order and not a shot was fired and not a man was killed. There were no machine guns, there were no parades of revolvers, there were no sworded shot-guns, and nobody's hand lay at any man's door. England can still show us something in the management of crowds and in the care of human life. Halifax Chronicle.

Much Gold Hoarded

More than $1,000,000,000 in gold has been hoarded throughout the world in the last eighteen months, League pool experts estimated. Every month League statisticians report several million more dollars in gold has disappeared from world circulation. The hoarding movement started late in 1931, when after England went off the gold standard.

French Population Growing

Increasing Much Faster Than British in Canada

The ever-growing French population of Canada is increasing more than twice as fast as the English, three times as fast as the Scottish, four times as fast as the Irish, so the Dominion statisticians reports.

In the decade between the 1921 and 1931 census reports the population of the Dominion increased by 1,581,396 persons. Of these 175,247 were French-Canadian origin, 196,031 of English, 172,725 of Scottish, and 125,005 of Irish descent.

In the last decade the British-origin population increased 10.52 per cent, but the French-Canadians increased 19.38 per cent. In the preceding 10 years the British increased 25 per cent, but failed to maintain that rate of increase. The French increase in the 1911-21 decade was about the same as the 1921-31 period.

The last census figures show the French to be 7 to 1 as compared with the British in the provinces of Quebec, while Ontario had a population of nearly 9 to 1 English and French.

The French have the greatest total by a narrow margin over the English, there being 2,927,999 French-Canadians and 2,741,119 English-Canadians. Then came the Irish with 1,246,350 and the Irish with 1,230,808. The Irish lead over the Scottish in New Brunswick and Ontario but the Caledonians folk exceed the Irish in all the other provinces.

Wins U.S. Science Prize

Young Canadian Awarded $1,000 By American Chemical Society

Frank H. Spedding, Ph.D., a 30-year-old scientist, and a native of Hamilton, Ont., who has fashioned a new method of seeing into the invisible fine structure of solid matter, was awarded the youthful genius prize of $1,000 by the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Spedding uses the light which can be reflected or otherwise emitted by solids, such as rocks and minerals, to reveal what scientists call their "lattice" structure. This lattice is the spacing of atoms in the solid, including the spinning and other antics of those tiny particles. He reads the messages of these light beams after they have been passed through a spectroscopic, a glass prism which breaks them into the rainbow and records them as vertical lines on a photographic plate.

Restrictions Attached

U.S. Secretary Of Treasury Barred From Working In Bank

When Ogden Y. Mills retires from the office of Secretary of the Treasury he will be free to work wherever he pleases except in a bank that is a member of the Federal Reserve System. The system includes all national banks and most of the state banks that might like to seek the services of a former Secretary of the Treasury. The Federal Reserve Act of 1913 provides that "the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency shall be ineligible during the time they are in office and for two years thereafter to hold any office, position or employment in any member bank. Appointive members of the Federal Reserve Board similarly are restricted unless they finish the term for which they are appointed." Baltimore Sun.

Novel Plan Is Working

Philadelphia Women Raise $2,500 Monthly To Feed Needy

Hundreds of Philadelphia children are being fed by the contributions of a group of women who donate 1 cent a meal to the cause, it was disclosed the other day. Organized three months ago, the emergency food brigade has been functioning quietly and today its novel plan is providing $1,500 a month for the needy. Each of the 1,113 members has a box into which the pennies are dropped at every meal. On the first of the month, they are collected by brigade officers.

The total value of all descriptions of farm poultry in Canada in 1932 is officially estimated at $34,738,000 as compared with $43,138,000 in the previous year.

Where Silencer Is Needed

Noisiest Place Known Is Cabin Of Air Liner

Despite the great progress that has been made in aeroplane design, it has not yet been found possible to silence the noise of the engine. The cabin of an air liner is about the noisiest place in the world. It is impossible to hear oneself speak in an airliner, and the only thing to do is to write down what you want to say on the writing pads provided for the purpose. Again, the air traveller will find little boxes of cotton wool in the cabin, and if he is wise he will stuff his ears before the start of the journey and so protect himself from "engine deafness." The expert aviators who do stunt flights, such as flying around the world in just over a week, are sometimes unable to hear for several days after the conclusion of their great feat. To go to the other extreme, one of the quietest places in the world is in a sailing ship in the middle of a dead calm. There the stillness can actually be felt, and sailors often let out and sing just to break the terribly oppressive silence.

Showing Priceless Relics

General Brock's Tunic Among Exhibits At McGill University

Priceless relics illustrating the important period in Canadian history, 1770-1870, are being shown at the McCord National Museum at McGill University in Montreal.

The tunic of General Sir Isaac Brock and parts of the military attire of James McGill, founder of the university and of one time commander of the Montreal militia, are included in the exhibit.

First event illustrated in the 100 years' history is the American follow-up the war of 1812, the rebellion of 1837, the burning of the parliament buildings at Montreal in 1857, and subsequent events leading up to Confederation.

Brussels Plans Exhibition

Twelve Nations Have Already Declined To Take Part

Commencing with the creation of the Belgian Congo fifty years ago and the opening of the first Belgian railway from Brussels to Malines, Brussels has decided to have an international colonial and industrial exposition this year with Prince Leopold as honorary president.

Twelve nations already have declined to participate in the exhibition, which will cover 400 acres of ground. They are Brazil, Chile, China, Egypt, Estonia, France, Morocco, Peru, Spain, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, and Russia.

Development of transportation, electricity and kindred subjects with the colonial section next in importance are the main departments.

Historical Church In Danger

Men who were boys when Charles Dickens used to go to Chatham are rallying younger villagers and Dickens lovers the world over to save a landmark. The death watch has damaged the village church which Dickens knew so well and money is being raised for re-building.

FAT GIRLS OUT OF FASHION

Women of All Nations Slimming

All over the world Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who are striving for an attractive free-fronted figure.

Here is the method they are following: To banish fat and bring into blossom all the natural attractiveness that they possess: every morning they take a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of warm water before breakfast.

They do this every morning—without taking one for "the salt" daily dose that takes off the fat. When Kruschen is taken daily, every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve, and fibre of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity, and a charming figure.

CHAPTER VIII.—Continued.

The Inconnu patrol blew up. There was nothing Haskell could do about capturing those bandits. He knew that if Williamson asked why no move had been made, the short-handledness at the post would be at least some excuse. Besides, one of the other detachments, over on Hudson's Bay or southeast in the Reindeer Lake country, would probably nail those bandits and the affair would blow over.

Those many impressive days, as he sat in his cabin and looked out along the slope for a mere glimpse of Elizabeth Spaulding, he was tortured by the question of why she was still here, and what stood between her and Baker. Why had Baker brought out in such hot haste and left this North country, that was his home? Was Elizabeth waiting for him, or had they split up?

Sometimes it seemed to Haskell that his appointment to this northern post had not been a mere vagary of luck but a manifest act of destiny, that he might meet Elizabeth Spaulding. His triumph over Baker, his commission as a Mounted officer, his career in the Mounted—what did the whole of it weigh against the prospect of losing Elizabeth after he had found her? With the sincerity of the only passionate love in his life, he felt that if Baker married her and took her away, his victory over the ex-captain would be a grinning mockery.

Late one quiet evening, when Bill Hardwood was gone on patrol, Haskell saw Elizabeth go up the slope to the cabin which had been Baker's, and light the candles there and after a quarter-hour come away again.

W. N. J. 1988

Tripping down the grassy terrace to Mrs. Drummond's flower garden, she sat down alone by the edge of it.

He went out of his lonesome cabin and out along the twilight slope toward her.

Hat in hand, Haskell came up. With cold sardonic eyes she surveyed him, amused at his humility. Toward her the man had no pride left.

She reminded him sharply: "I believe I asked you not to talk with me again."

"Yes, you did," he said humbly. "I haven't forgotten. It's made these last couple weeks pretty miserable. But when I saw you over there to-night . . . Elizabeth, won't you let me—can't I stay just a little while? I got some news day before yesterday that cut me up pretty bad."

He waited for her to comment, but she said nothing. "You remember last winter I said my father was in poor health? I got a radiogram night before last about—about him."

Elizabeth understood that his father had died. She was quite well aware that Haskell was not exactly stricken by the news, though he was trying to play upon her sympathy.

She wondered why he was discussing the matter with her now.

As he went on talking of it, she began to see his reason. He mentioned the big country estate outside of Cobham, the town house in Ottawa, the extensive and valuable timber limits up the Kiamiki. When he hinted at himself being the only heir and the owner of all this, she saw his whole drift.

The news left her entirely cold. From his treatment of Alan she knew how tricky and dishonorable he could be. He was trying to bait her. . . . She smiled sardonically at him for being so crude about it. Probably he thought to make her his Ottawa mistress.

The affections of such a man were evanescent at best, and certainly quicksand to build upon. Imagining her relatives with this man if she ever allowed herself to become dependent on him, she saw him staving off marriage by the old threadbare dodges, and at last turning coldly away, when passion went. Alan Baker in time would go farther than Haskell and his Cobham estate. Alan was honest, he could be depended upon.

Angry and contemptuous she arose. "I've got to go. But there's something I really must thank you for, Inspector."

"To thank me for?" He too had risen; he was leaning toward her eagerly. "Thank . . . I didn't know I'd done."

"You didn't intend it as a favor: But it was." With mocking irony in his voice, he went on: "Last winter Alan was offered a very splendid position in Victoria. I wanted him to take it. You used to say he was a non-com with no prospects, and that was somewhat as I felt. He didn't want to leave. He wanted to stay in service and live here in the North. But you were wavering, you forced his hand. You made him buy out, and so you made our marriage possible. I'm awfully grateful to you, really. You didn't realize what a favor you were doing."

She left him standing there, staring after her, dazed and speechless.

That same evening, only an hour later, Haskell made a discovery so startling that in some measure it took his tortured thoughts away from Elizabeth.

A knock sounded on the door, and Haskell came in with a report. "Sir, last week I missed fifty gallons of gas and five of oil from our stores. I thought it might be a paper mistake, but today I checked up again and we're short still more."

"Well, what about it?" Haskell snapped.

"Nothing, sir; nothing at all," Whipple said hastily. He saw that his chief was in a vicious mood, and he backed away to the door. "I just thought that you would like to know, sir. Most likely some half-breed with an outboard motor is stealing this, sir." And he closed the door quietly.

Alone again, unable to bear his stinging thoughts, Haskell turned in desperation to the service radio set in an effort to distract himself. As he had done on evenings past, he picked up an Edmonton station. Among the orders, news, and personal messages, he heard that an aviator named Featherstone and another man, name unknown, had stolen a machine gun, a propeller, pack-chute, flying instruments and other things at Edmonton; and escaping in Featherstone's monoplane, had just been sighted following the Alberta and Great Waterways railroad toward McMurray. The posts were warned to be on the look-out for the plane and to arrest the criminals on sight.

The name and description of Featherstone meant nothing to Haskell, but the description of the other person made him thoughtful. Tall, rangy, sandy-haired, gray-eyed, with a long prominent scar across his left temple—that description would fit Alan Baker to a dot. And Baker had gone south and might conceivably have reached Edmonton.

Haskell pondered this possibility a minute and then dismissed it. It was Bill Hardwood who innocently opened his eyes to the truth.

Knocking, entering, standing before the desk. Bill requested:

"Sir, if you don't mind, I've got three days free time coming to me, and if you don't mind I'd like to take them now. I'd like to have them in a row, if you don't mind."

"I'm short of men as it is," Haskell cut him off. "You can't go. That's that!"

It wasn't "that" for Bill. Refusing to be driven out, he planted himself there wide-legged and pleaded for his three days—pleaded till Haskell saw that the corporal must have some special and urgent reason for wanting off duty.

"Are you getting married?" he demanded sarcastically.

"No, sir," Bill answered, with more outward respect than he had ever shown before. "I want to go trout fishing."

"Are You Getting Married?" He Demanded Sarcastically.

Haskell angered. He started to order Bill out of the cabin on penalty of c.b. But then he suddenly checked himself, he half-rose from his chair, gasping, with a revelation voicing through his brain.

There it was the whole crashing truth! Baker's strange haste to buy out, his strange journey out to civilization, that plane coming north, the missing gasoline, Bill Hardwood's request for a leave of absence. . . . All these disjointed facts suddenly clicked together like the parts of a Chinese puzzle.

That man wanted in Edmonton had been Baker! He was coming back in a plane to get those handies! Hardwood was stealing gas and oil for the machine to maneuver on! He needed these three days of absence in order to take the fuel out to the rendezvous!

Wanting time to think, time to make the right move, Haskell said jerkily: "Just a minute, corporal. I'll have to . . . I want to consider your request." And he turned away to the window.

So Baker had not given up! He was out of service, but he was coming back to finish with those bandits.

Little Helps For This Week

"I must work the works of Him that sent me while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work." — John 9-4.

He who interrupts the appointed task and duties of the day, Unlames full off the pleasure of the day.

Checking the finer spirits that refuse To flow, when purposes are lightly changed.

W. Wordsworth.

By putting off things beyond their proper times one duty treads upon the heels of another, and all duties are felt as irksome obligations, a yoke beneath which we fret and lose our peace. In most cases the consequences are that we have no time to do the work as it ought to be done. — F. W. Baker.

Sufficient for the day is the good thereof, equally as the evil. We must do at once, and with our might, the merciful deed our hand intendeth to do or it will never be done, for the hand will find other tasks and the arrears fall through. And we shall one day be charged as faithless and recreant before God. — J. H. Thom.

Germans War On Muskrats

Were True Patriots

Two U.S. Citizens Intentionally Overpaid Income Tax Last Year

Two persons intentionally paid the State of New York greater sums in income taxes last year than the law required; one, a retired professor, waived his personal exemption from taxes on a part of his income, and the other, an executive in a transportation company, forebore to write off $25,000 of losses sustained in sales of securities. Neither is named, but both are cited as fine examples of public spirit. These men deserve public gratitude. They acted as a generous regard for the welfare of their fellow citizens. Their sacrifice is acceptable at a time when sacrifice is difficult, when the State needs it more difficult than in living memory to obtain the revenue that it requires. Their example may be recommended to others who can make similar sacrifice without passing it on to their own dependents. — Brooklyn Eagle.

There have been numerous complaints about boys riding bicycles on sidewalks around town. Constable Kercher says he has given the boys sufficient warning and if the practice is not stopped immediately, he will take action against the offenders.

Six Signs of Spring.

A. V. Buckler's housekeeper says she could have convinced any person if they'd been there:

Mr. Robin was standing on what we call now a discarded telephone pole. "Cheer, cheer, spring is here." In the meantime on the road was passing 1,200 head of those fleecy white animals called sheep toddling by, nice to the ear, lovely to the eye. Then came a terrible noise—honk, honk—a Ford, and two of those feathery wild geese were talking in a foreign language to Henry the bronze ton. Suddenly quick, quick!—the baby ducks from the back shed, then Jerry's law-woo! and there was the family to the two who had just passed in the Ford.

The housekeeper goes on to say that she could not remember while she's been on his farm, of "A.V." shaving before breakfast, but this happened April 23rd. Mr. Coates will soon be bringing along that black herd of his and then we will surely know it is spring. "Cheer, cheer, spring is here!"

Noreen Woodcock, who spent the Easter vacation with her parents, returned to her school in Calgary on Sunday.

Turtle For Two.

The turtle was "in clover" when this picture was taken, and "in the soup" shortly after. The background study in black and white is provided by the Misses Marion Webster and Helen MacKay, of Montreal, on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain," in which they cruised around the world. The turtle, like many other rare and exotic delicacies consumed by four hundred passengers during their 20,000 mile cruise, only went part way.
